

In Extremis; Clotilde Rullaud, vocals.

http://www.jsojazzscene.org/CDReviews/201307_CDReviews.htm

If you like the idea of arty songs sung in French, Rullaud just may strike a chord with you. Her song list ranges from Bill Evans to Astor Piazzolla; from Baden Powell to Mongo Santamaria; and from her own original material to songs by Sting. Rullaud has the vocal presence to make it all work seamlessly. She handles brisk tempos and ballads with ease and precision. I'd love to hear what she could do in a stronger jazz setting.